

5

10

An apparatus and a method to treat a disease process in the vicinity of a luminal structure comprises a balloon catheter having a balloon and a tube segment of radioactive material located either inside the balloon or outside the balloon.